Posters: PhD candidates can apply for a research stay in Beijing

Dear Sir or Madam,

European PhD researchers who write their theses in law can now apply for a scholarship at the China-EU School of Law at the China University of Political Science and Law. The law school invites them to carry out research at the CESL Research Center in Beijing. A limited number of scholarships is available to subsidise research stays between 2-4 months.

These programmes are also open to PhD researchers at your university. Thus, please be so kind as to use the posters enclosed to inform PhD students with a special interest in China about their opportunities by hanging a poster on your wall or blackboard.

The law school will pay for accommodation in the International Exchange Center, give a fixed grant for a return flight ticket from the student’s place of residence to Beijing, and allow free access to all libraries. Stays are possible between March and June and again between September and December. Interested students must apply until 30 June 2016 for a stay during the winter semester 2016/17 and until 15 November 2016 for a stay during the spring semester 2017. Candidates must reside in an EU country, be enrolled in a doctoral programme of law, stay in Beijing during the period for which the scholarship has been granted and resume studies in their home country afterwards. Researchers who are interested in the scholarship should visit www.cesl.edu.cn and contact Ms Malin Späth, China-EU School of Law Consortium Office, University of Hamburg, Tel.: +49 40 42838 922, malin.spaeth@jura-uni-hamburg.de. Applications include a CV and a brief overview of the dissertation and planned research in China.

Kind regards,

Ursula Zipperer
